RESOLUTION

A Commemoration Honoring the Freedom Riders

Whereas, the non-violent movement for civil rights started in the 1950s and in the early 1960s that non-violent movement evolved into a non-violent technique, and

Whereas, on February 1, 1960, four young African-American men, students at North Carolina Agriculture and Technical College, go to a Woolworth in Greensboro, North Carolina, and sit down at a whites-only lunch counter, and

Whereas, despite being denied service, they sit silently and politely at the lunch counter until closing time, and

Whereas, in part because of that action, on April 15, 1960, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee holds its first meeting, and

Whereas, on July 25, 1960, the downtown Greensboro Woolworth desegregates its lunch counter after six-months of sit-ins, and

Whereas, on October 19, 1960, Martin Luther King, Jr. joins a student sit-in at a whites-only restaurant inside of Rich’s, an Atlanta department store, and

Whereas, on December 5, 1960, the Supreme Court hands down a 7 – 2 decision in the Boynton v. Virginia case, ruling that segregation of vehicles traveling between states is unlawful because it violates the Interstate Commerce Acts, and

Whereas, on May 4, 1961, the Freedom Riders, composed of seven African-Americans and six white activists, leave Washington, D.C. for the rigidly segregated Deep South, and

Whereas, this movement was organized by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), its goal being to test Boynton v. Virginia, and

Whereas, on May 14, 1961, the Freedom Riders now traveling in two separate groups are attacked outside Anniston, Alabama and in Birmingham, Alabama, and
Whereas, a mob throws a firebomb onto the bus in which the group outside Anniston is riding. Members of the Ku Klux Klan attack the second group in Birmingham after making an arrangement with the local police to allow them 15 minutes alone with the bus, and

Whereas, on May 17, 1961, a new group of young activist join two of the original Freedom Riders to complete the trip, and

Whereas, on May 29, 1961, President Kennedy announces that he has ordered the Interstate Commerce Commission to enact stricter regulations and fines for buses and facilities that refuse to integrate, and

Whereas, the Freedom Riders movement grows to more than 400 white and black activists, and

Whereas, in November, 1961, the civil rights activists participate in a series of protests, marches and meetings in Albany, Georgia, that come to be known as the Albany Movement, and

Whereas, on May 4, 2011, the Freedom Riders movement celebrated 50 years of accomplishments as it advanced civil rights for all Americans.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that Blacks In Government gives honor and recognizes the monumental efforts, sacrifices, hardships and accomplishments that the Freedom Riders made to end overt discrimination in the Interstate Commerce travels for all Americans.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to any living member of the original Freedom Riders, any office that represents CORE, the Student Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) for their contributions and support of the Freedom Riders.
